

trackless northeast for the microscope black hump on the white snowscape flanked by the huddled figures of the sailors, their Hudson bay Indian guides and the string of husky dogs.

"Christmas Mail" Late.

Until tonight the reporter remained in Clute with an eye ever wandering to the frostbitten window of the Goulding store, through which a view can be had of the trail leading north on New Post, for the Reville packet which left Moose Factory on Dec. 27 with its load of furs and Christmas mail was due and Goulding had placed a $10 bet that the airmen would be with it.

He bases his belief on the fact that the Hudson Bay company's mail packet arrived last Sunday and that no other Mattice packet is due until spring.

The sun sank without lighting the picture of the arrival. At 5 o'clock Mrs. Goulding came in and said, "The dogs are asleep."

"Then they won't come," said Goulding, and explained that the town dogs can smell the strong perfume of the furs carried on the packet while they are still three to five miles away. And when they sniff the strange odor they set up a yelling which can be heard for three miles in every direction. Their howls will be music to the airmen as they march into civilization.

Six Months Old, but News.

A bit of news crept into Clute today. It was of the death of a squaw and two children on Hudson's bay six months ago. A pack of mailmen broke loose and ate them up. That it would seem, would be news thrilling enough to warrant speedy transmission. But it kept for six months when it arrived it created no sensation.

That is characteristic of this unthrilled and unthrilling country. When the airmen arrive they will be welcomed by the inhabitants. They may even be cheered. But they will not be stared at. Not even a dog fight can create a real throb of interest among these people, for they have their own business, and attend to it.

For real goggle-eyed admiration and eye worship the airmen will have to wait until they strike United States soil.

Safe in Hands of Indians.

Cochrane, Ont., Jan. 6.—Veterans of the north country expressed the opinion tonight that the three navy lieutenants probably had made slow progress on their return trip, not only because of their inexperience and fatigue, but because of the heavy snow of Christmas week, through which the Indians must break the trail. Snow shoe mashing is laborious and fatiguing. The best a trapper remarked, and suggested that the Indian guides probably had been compelled to make camp often, that their charges might be kept up. He added that the aeronautes could be in no safer hands than Indians and would "come through all right."

Lieut. Hinton Writes Wife.

New York, Jan. 6.—Letters from Lieut. Walter Hinton and Lieut. Louis A. Kloor Jr., two of the three naval balloonists descending their way back to civilization, were received here today.

Mrs. Hinton, who is at the Rockaway Naval Air station, got one from her husband giving a complete account of the trip from Rockaway to Moose Factory. The other was received by a girl friend of Lieut. Kloor.

Mrs. Hinton declined to make public the contents of her husband's letter, owing, she said, to a navy department order, but said her husband had written details of the hardships he and his comrades had encountered. She intimated he had withstood the rigors better than his companions, and that while the men had "suffered a good deal" they "were in pretty good shape."

The letters are believed to have been brought out by the same Indian runner who carried the telegram to Mattice with the first news of the safety of the missing men.

ADVANCE BILL TO PERMIT PRESS ON NAVAL RADIO

Washington, D. C., Jan. 6.—(Special.)—Instructions were issued today by the house merchant marine committee to a special subcommittee to prepare changes in existing law by which the navy department will contract for one year at a time to carry over its radio press messages and dispatches.

This special committee, of which Congressman White of Maine is chairman, will start at once on its task. It is expected that it will be able to complete its work and report to the general committee within a few days.

The freeing of the navy radio to press dispatches and messages was urged on the committee by American publishers and managers of the leading press associations. At a hearing today before the committee it was insisted by these men that they were raising no question of charge or toll, but were desirous of getting the service that would be afforded by the navy radio.

THEFT OF PURSE HAS KEPT HIM IN PRISON 16 YEARS

Fight for Victim of Old Pirate Law Is Renewed.

The modification of the old United States law pertaining to punishment for "piracy on shipboard"—whereby fifteen years is the maximum in prison for a theft on the high seas—came a little late for one man.

The one man is convict No. 8029 in the Federal prison at Fort Leavenworth. Sixteen years ago he was sent to prison for stealing a pocketbook from a woman passenger on a Great Lakes steamer that plied between Detroit and Buffalo. When he had been in prison for twelve years—in 1916—efforts were made to get the president and the attorney general in Washington to pardon him; but to no avail.

Joseph A. Kerwin—convict No. 8029—was convicted in Detroit under the dread law "piracy on the high seas," and sent to prison for life. He was a young man then. His crime was the theft of a pocketbook. He is still in prison.

Many Try to Aid Him.

Kerwin had not been forgotten. Time after time the strange tale of this young man, convicted under a law that was later stripped of some of its unfairness, has caused more than one benevolent person to take up the case and try to obtain a pardon. Time after time these efforts have been foiled.

And he already has served one more year than the maximum under the present law. During his long incarceration he has studied, according to reports, to good effect. He was advised to take up mechanical and electrical engineering. He is now a graduate.

Not only that, but Kerwin, as convict No. 8029, is editor of the "New Era," the prison paper.

The fight to free Kerwin has been brought to Chicago. R. T. Miller Jr., president of the American School of Correspondence, has been working on the case. He learned the manner of man he was sending his pamphlets to in Leavenworth prison.

Still Hopeful, Letter Shows.

One letter from Kerwin that inspired Mr. Miller's interest was as follows: "Despite the fact that I have been twice denied clemency by the department of justice, I am preparing another campaign for liberty. A fellow is not a failure until he quits trying. If your interest in me has not waned, you can be of help to me at this time. You can write a letter asking for my release, address it to President Wilson, and then send it to me. My plan is to win several letters of recommendation from prominent men who will help me, mail them all to the editor of a Detroit newspaper, who has promised to help me, and ask him to send them to Congressmen. Donorous for presentation to the president."

Letters mailed to the president in behalf of prisoners never reach him; they are shunted into the pardon attorney's office, where they are useless.

Letter Written 8 Years Ago.

The foregoing letter was written by Kerwin in August, 1916. He had then been locked up twelve years. It proved of no avail. But Mr. Miller has undertaken a renewed campaign to gain freedom for the man, incarcerated under a penal code now defunct.

"HELLO, THERE!"

MISS RUBY MORNER. MISS ADELAIDE BLEDSOE.

"HELLO there!" will be the watchword next week when the Federation of University Women launches its first "friendliness" campaign at the University of Chicago. The campaign will begin Monday and continue all week. The object is to bring about a spirit of greater good fellowship among the students.

"Hello there!" has been adopted as the slogan for the drive. "Every student will be asked to greet thus every one he or she passes on the campus."

It wouldn't be hard to say "Hello there!" if Ruby Morner, president of the Federation of University Women, or Adelaide Bledsoe of the same organization passed and cried out "Hello there"—now, would it?

On the Trail.

A reporter called the Evanston Herald telephone number last night. A man answered. The conversation:

"Is Collett D. Huff there?"

"There is no such party here."

"Who are you?"

"Why, I am Charles Huff."

"Did you just get married?"

"Heavens, no!"

"Well, a marriage license was issued in Chicago today for Collett D. Huff and May M. Kartton."

"I never heard of Collett D. Huff."

"Aren't you a broker?"

"I sell automobiles."

The mystery was becoming most opaque. You see, the reporter had previously learned of another marriage. Collett D. Huff and May M. Kartton, the latter proprietor of the Lincoln Tavern in Morton Grove, were married in the city hall of Chicago in March, 1919. The reporter had an inspiration. He again telephoned the Evanston Herald.

"Maybe," he ventured, "your son ran away and was married. Have you got one and in his name Collett?"

"Yes, I've got one, but his name's not Collett. And he's only 15 years old and he's in the basement now playing with the malted cat."

"This is a peculiar case, isn't it?"

"Yes, indeed; good-night."

Whereupon the reporter called Mor-

MYSTIC 896,039 BARES MARRIAGE OF COLLETT HUFF

Divorce Year Up, Reweds Woman Inn Owner.

Euclid would probably have loved to grapple with this mystery of $86,029, but he would have been baffled. For what mere many has ever basted Cupid? It's the number of the marriage license issued here yesterday to—

Collett D. Huff, Evanston; May M. Kartton, Evanston, 37-38.

Now, the Evanston telephone directory for January discloses that there is a Collett D. Huff at 1017 Ridge avenue, in one of the most fashionable residential districts of the suburb. Further, the Chicago telephone directory discloses that Collett D. Huff is a broker at 209 South La Salle street.

That Thursday night show that Collett D. Huff, "a young broker," was married on Nov. 28, 1912, at Crown Point, to Miss Ethel Jacobs, 1544 West Twelfth street.

On the Trail.

A reporter called the Evanston Herald telephone number last night. A man answered. The conversation:

"Is Collett D. Huff there?"

BATTLE AGAINST DISARMAMENT IS BEGUN IN HOUSE

Opposed in Committee and on Floor.

BY GRAFTON S. WILCOX.
Washington, D. C., Jan. 6.—(Special.)—That disarmament is going to be a lively, debatable issue in congress became increasingly apparent today. Following well authenticated reports that President Woodrow Wilson is planning to call a conference of nations in Washington on the subject, the subject has been taken up in sessions of the house committee on naval and military affairs and in the house itself, where Representative Britten of Chicago submitted a resolution which would put congress on record against any proposed naval holiday.

Before the naval affairs committee Secretary Daniels announced his opposition to reduction of naval strength and served notice that he would appear next Tuesday to detail his objections to disarmament plans.

Chair of British Trap.
Representative Thomas S. Butler, chairman of the naval committee, who is going to Madison Saturday to confer with Mr. Harding on a general disarmament policy, sounded a note of warning.

"We want to find out," he exclaimed, whether Great Britain and Japan are going to try to trick us with talk of a naval holiday and to keep on building while we stop. We are not going to fall into any trap."

The house military affairs committee announced that it would begin hearings on the subject next Tuesday, and that the first audience would be given to representatives of the Woman's Peace party, headed by Mrs. Henry Villard of New York.

Britten Resolution in House.

Representative Britten paved the way for a line of the house on the issue of disarmament by introducing his anti-naval holiday resolution. His resolution sets forth primarily "that the United States is unwilling to capitulate to any political independence to the fetters of an international treaty, materially limiting naval armaments, thereby involving its freedom of action in ways and for objects not at present discernible, and that all warship construction authorized to date be completed in the shortest practicable time commensurate with the nation's desire for economy and sound business practices in the private and government shipbuilding yards."

Thinks It Like League Issue.

Mr. Britten said his resolution was directed against cessation of any part of the present three year building program to be completed by Jan. 1, 1924, which would give the United States 1,118,000 tons of first line fighting ships and predominance on the seas.

"The same line of argument which led our people in the last election to reject the league of nations is equally applicable against the limitation of naval armaments," Mr. Britten said. "We do not wish to place our national independence outside of our national control unless we have entire confidence in the altruism and trustworthiness of other nations."

"Any limitation of naval armaments must also carry with it the limitation of international control and development of merchant shipping by agreeing on an equitable distribution of tonnage. England has taken, and hopes to continue to take, economic tribute from the world through her predominance in ocean shipping. Japan hopes to rival her. A great navy is needed to assure the economic independence of our merchant marine fleet in peace and in war."

World Peace Futility Hope.

"In limitation of armaments as now proposed, we see an immediate reduction of government expenditure which is feasible only by an inextinguishable but futile hope that an era of world peace has arrived."

"There is no human way for the British navy to retain the supremacy of the sea without this so-called naval holiday, and any propaganda looking toward even a partial cessation in our warship building program can have but one result—to sustain British predominance of the high seas."

United Charities Would Bar School Child Workers

Employers and commercial organizations were asked yesterday to enlist in a campaign to refrain from giving employment to children now in school in an effort to provide work for thousands of heads of families who are out of work. The campaign was started at a meeting of the Haymarket and northwest districts of the United Charities.

MAYOR OF CORK TELLS OF TRICKING BRITISH SOLDIERS

Hid in Ship's Bunker for Seven Days.

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 6.—Daniel O'Callaghan, lord mayor of Cork, told today how he eluded British soldiers and boarded the steamer West Cannon at Cork for his secret passage to this country. He arrived with Peter McSwiney, brother of the late lord mayor.

"Dressed as a laborer," the lord mayor said, "I hung around the docks for about an hour watching my chance. Many of the crew were absent from the ship, and when I saw my chance I climbed a ladder and slipped aboard and into the hold." He added that MacSwiney had boarded the ship ahead of him.

Gets Word of Parole.

Newport News, Va., Jan. 6.—Upon notice of parole being received, Daniel J. O'Callaghan, lord mayor of Cork, who has been in custody of the immigration authorities here since his arrival from an Irish port, left late today for Norfolk.

He was accompanied by Peter McSwiney, brother of the late lord mayor, and by J. L. Faucett of New York, "cousin general of the Irish republic."

Before leaving, Lord Mayor O'Callaghan and MacSwiney received hundreds of Irish sympathizers. Telegrams arrived asking him to visit New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Washington, Pittsburgh, Chicago, and St. Louis.

Mr. Faucett stated that Lord Mayor O'Callaghan expected to speak in New York, within a day or two and then he probably will go to Boston.

State Department Ignored?

Washington, D. C., Jan. 6.—The action of Secretary of Labor Wilson today in paroling Lord Mayor O'Callaghan on his own recognition, it was indicated, had been taken without consultation with the state department. There is nothing now to prevent his coming to Washington to testify before the commission of the Committee of One Hundred investigating the Irish conditions.

It was understood today that Secretary Wilson probably would sustain the appeal of O'Callaghan without any reference of the case to the department of state.

LINCOLN CENTER DIRECTOR NAMED.

The board of trustees of Abraham Lincoln Center yesterday announced the appointment of Prof. J. M. Artman, associate professor of religious education and director of vocational training at the University of Chicago, as director of the activities of the center. He succeeds the late Rev. Jenkin Lloyd Jones, who founded the organization.

SALESMAN'S TOUR FORCES MANY TO BE VACCINATED

Peregrinations of Fred Hartley, a traveling salesman afflicted with smallpox, through the Illinois Central depot and three downtown hotels caused Health Commissioner Robertson to issue an order yesterday that all the depot and hotel employees be vaccinated at once. Hartley arrived in Chicago at 12:50 New Year's day from Sheldon, Ill.

The disease was in the fifth day of its eruption when discovered. Hartley was taken to the isolation hospital, where fifteen others suffering from smallpox are confined.

With ten new cases reported in East Chicago, Ind., the city council yesterday passed a resolution calling for an expenditure of $15,000 to help fight the plague. It was decided further appropriations, probably totaling $50,000, will be made next week if the epidemic continues to grow.

Yesterday marked the first death due to the disease in East Chicago. Perhaps sixty cases of so-called "black smallpox," its most virulent manifestation, have been reported. Rarely does it occur in this form, according to Dr. J. A. Tegarden, health commissioner of East Chicago.

British-American Bank in London Closes Doors

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 6.—The British-American Continental bank suspended payments today, but promises payments in full will be made shortly. The bank was suspended recently by the acquisition of the Scandinavian Bank, which was purchased mainly with American capital to promote trade between Great Britain and America and Scandinavia.

The bank's chairman is J. B. MacAfee, an American banker, and among the directors are F. E. Powell, Anglo-American Oil company, and J. P. Dunn of MacAfee & Co. The others are English or Scandinavian. The capital was $12,000,000, of which $1,750,000 was paid in.

MISSOURI POET, PARISIAN GIRL, GO TO MEXICO

Take War Romance
Child.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 6.—[Special.]—Lee Shippey, poet and mile, Madeleine Babin have gone to Monterey, Mexico. With them is their little son, who was born in Kansas City.

Shippey was a Y. M. C. A. worker in Paris during the American part of the world war. When he landed in New York his wife, who has a little son, was at the dock to greet him.

His Greeting for His Wife.
"I love a little girl in Paris. I want you to get a divorce so I can marry her," was his greeting. "Choose your own grounds. Make them anything you want."

The poet then informed his wife that the Paris girl was to become a mother and he wanted a speedy divorce so the child could bear his name. The wife did offer to take the child and care for it as her own, though she refused to seek a divorce.

The wife thought he had forgotten, but realized her mistake when first letters and then the French girl arrived in Kansas City. The girl's father, a French officer, had been killed in the war. Her sister, Georgette, who arrived with Madeleine, married about a year ago and lives here.

Georges Shippey Arrives.
Madeleine's child was born here and was christened Georges Shippey. The United States government made all sorts of efforts to have her deported. But today the wife is here recovering from nervous prostration, while the husband and Madeleine are in Mexico.

All this is the climax of a visit of the poet Y. M. C. A. worker to the American cemetery at Suresnes, near Paris. There he met the French girl, Marie, and her mother were pointing flowers on the graves of American soldiers. Later Shippey became a boarder in the Babin home and a love affair developed.

ROBBERY OF EMPLOYER'S $1,000.
Fred Thompson of 3228 Milwaukee avenue, a collector for the Arm & Ammunition company, was robbed of $1,000 of the company's money last night by three men, two of whom were armed with revolvers, at Sheridan road and Arthur avenue.

SURVIVOR TELLS STORY OF WRECK OF SANTA ISABEL

Fog Adds to Terrors; No
Boats Reach Shore.

CORUNNA, Spain, Jan. 6.—The first comprehensive narrative of the wreck of the Spanish steamer Santa Isabel Jan. 3, in which more than 200 persons perished, was given today to the Associated Press by Pedro Fal, a pilot living at Buenos Aires, who was a passenger aboard the vessel with his wife and the latter's brother, Luis Malde. They were returning to Argentina.

"We were asleep when the accident happened," said Fal. "The shock awoke the passengers, who immediately threw on clothing and rushed to the decks. We found people dashing about and the waves sweeping over the passengers, but without success."

"Boats were lost from their davits and soon the electric lights failed, owing to the flooding of the machine room. The wireless operator was unable to reply to inquiries relative to the position of the steamer."

Made Worse by Fog.
"The obscurity and fog increased the panic. The captain ordered the launching of the boats, the island of Salvadora being only 400 yards away. At that moment the mainmast broke, killing many, while others threw themselves into the sea."

"On the first attempt to launch the boats the crew made a rush for one. The moment it touched the water it was smashed on the rocks and all in it were drowned. A moment later the passengers launched two boats. These were overturned. Then the remaining boat got away after a terrible struggle for a place in it. It carried forty passengers, but soon ran aground."

"I, with my wife and Malde, remained with the captain and thirty others on the forward deck, which was afloat on water. The cold was intense. The cries of the drowning we heard all around us. We remained until 6 o'clock Sunday morning, when we saw the steamer Cabo Triana passing near by. We made signals by burning paper with gasoline lighters, but apparently we were not seen."

Washed Into Sea, but Saved.
"An enormous wave washed everybody overboard, separating me from my wife, whom, however, I found in the water. I am a powerful swimmer and secured a floating plank, which I fixed under my wife's arms. We remained in the water for several hours, when a fishing boat picked us up."

The captain of the vessel was a skillful seaman. "He took every precaution when the fog started, and steamed dead slow. It was the mountainous seas that drove the vessel toward the cliffs."

The captain of the Cabo Triana has been under arrest for not going to the assistance of the Santa Isabel.

CONTINUES FAST
TO SAVE HUSBAND
AFTER 40TH DAY

Danville, Ill., Jan. 6.—On the eve of her fortieth day of fasting in an attempt to induce her husband to join her church, Mrs. Ernest S. Harrington tonight was more restless than usual and for the first time appeared to have a slight fever. She continued to claim that she had taken no food since her fast began, and insisting that the previous absence of increased temperature was due to God's caring for her. She declared she intends continuing the fast "until her husband's heart is softened."

Mr. Harrington has written to the supervisor of the Church of God, who resides at Eldorado, Ill., asking him to visit Danville and use his influence in the hope of causing a cessation of the fast.

Evanston Electricians Ask
Protection from Chicagoans

Members of the Evanston city council were stricken almost speechless at the meeting of the council when a group of electrical contractors presented a petition asking that their license fee be raised from $25 to $100. They regaled their voices, however, when it was explained that it was for the purpose of discouraging Chicago electrical contractors from contracting for electrical work in Evanston.

POLICEMAN PITS NERVE AGAINST 4 REVOLVERS, WINS

Seizes Armed Auto Band
Without a Shot.

Capture of four mysterious armed men in an automobile was effected yesterday in a remarkable manner due to the courage of Patrolman George Witthoff of the Town Hall station. Not a shot was fired.

Witthoff, in civilian clothes, was at Addison street and Southport avenue at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. He had just pulled the box there when the automobile rounded the corner and slowed up at the curb. The suspicion is that the occupants mistook Witthoff for a citizen and planned to rob him.

Gets Drop on Quartet.
One of the men aimed a revolver at him. Witthoff ducked, drew his revolver, and aimed around the car, leaped on the running board, and "covered" the man and his companions.

"Don't make a move or I'll fill you full of lead," he said.

Then he discovered each of the other three men had a revolver in his right hand. He had out-manuevered them, however, and none of them had had time to raise his hand sufficiently to fire. Witthoff maintained his perilous position for about ten minutes, when Policemen George Geiser and Fred Gull, coming to the box to register their pull, disarmed the men. The quartet was conveyed to the station.

Holdup Victims to View Four.
The men described themselves as Frank Laporte, 626 South Sangamon street; Joseph Carlos, 1808 West Harrison street; Isabelle Joffe, 1817 North Hamilton avenue, and Paul Mallia, the driver of the car, 903 West Taylor street. They refused to say what their mission was.

Capt. John McCarthy said he would cite Witthoff in his monthly report. Victims of recent holdups would be asked to view the prisoners, he said.

BEAUTY OF EVERY KIND TO BE SEEN AT CHICAGO SHOW

In an attempt to prove that beauty is more than skin deep, there will be held in the Coliseum, from Feb. 28 to March 6, the Beauty Mart, an exposition of cold creams, powders, rouges, skin foods, wrinkle cradlers, hair tonics, electric beautifying appliances, rubber garments for reducing, gymnasium features, and, in fact, everything that goes into the making and makeup of the Boul Mich femme and her sister of humbler travel.

So, if you have a beauty around the house, drag her out and perk her up for a prize. Several will be given to encourage the art of being beautiful.

This will be the first national exhibit of cosmetics and practical aids to beauty. It is sponsored by the Trade Exhibits corporation and is designed to give advertisers and manufacturers of high grade beauty articles an opportunity to display their wares.

CALIFORNIA FOR U. S. TREATY TO KEEP JAPS OUT

Sacramento, Cal., Jan. 6.—A joint resolution requesting the federal government to conclude no treaty with Japan that would extend citizenship rights to Japanese or that would nullify the California anti-alien law, was favorably reported by the state senate committee on federal relations today. It will come up for final action in the senate.

The resolution urges that provision be made in any immigration treaty with Japan to prohibit "further immigration of the subjects of Japan to the United States, save and except merchants, students, and teachers, their servants and employees."

England Reports Big Loss Through Railway Control

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
LONDON, Jan. 6.—The ministry of transport in its report issued today shows a loss to the state in its management of the railways during November of £1,000,000 and a net loss of £25,000,000 in the last eight months. Government control of railways ends next August.

SMALL CABINET PLANS IN DOUBT; MILLER IS SURE

BY E. O. PHILLIPS.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 6.—[Special.]—All early "dope" on the cabinet appointments of Gov. Elect Len Small has been upset by the agreements made in connection with the election of Representative G. H. A. Dahlberg as speaker of the house.

Before Sunday Mr. Small, in conference with Fred Lundin and State Chairman Frank L. Smith, will determine the changes that are to be made after Monday's inauguration and will choose the men who are to go into office. The necessary conferences are to be held in Chicago.

The only name that now remains on the slate is that of Col. C. R. Miller of Kankakee, who will be appointed director of public works.

Barr Reluctant to Serve.

The name of George A. Barr of Joliet, which was on the list for director of trade and commerce, has been erased. It is believed, at the instance of Mr. Barr himself.

The persistent report prevails in Springfield that there is to be a clean sweep of Gov. Lowden's advisers without delay. None of Gov. Lowden's nine directors has received any information as to what is to happen. Director William H. Boys of the department of trade and commerce has offered his resignation to Gov. Lowden.

Of the nine department directors, Director C. St. Clair Drake of the department of health probably has the best chance to be asked to remain.

Gov. Lowden has made all of his arrangements to go to California. With Mr. Frank L. Smith, will determine the changes that are to be made after Monday's inauguration and will choose the men who are to go into office. The necessary conferences are to be held in Chicago.

HARDING FINDS INTRIGUE TRIES HAND AT STATE

On Guard Against Falsehood, He Tells Masons.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

Marion O. Harding, 6-1 (Special).—President Harding is being somewhat disillusioned as to national politics, it appears from his speech to fellow Masons last night when the thirty-second degree was conferred on him. "I have found already," he said, "that intrigue and untruth must be guarded against. One must ever be on his guard. This everlastingly standing on one's guard spoils a man. I wish for an atmosphere of truth and sincerity in our government. Out of an era of service will come an era of truth and good will. The doctrine of service is the greatest thing in the world."

America is going to play its part in a better order among nations and bring humanity to a higher plane. America is going to contribute to the peace of the world. You, my fellow countrymen, are going to help me in this hour and upon your shoulders rests a responsibility as great as mine."

Greeted Former Officers.

To a delegation of former officers of the A. E. F., most of them Chileans, Mr. Harding said he wanted the maximum defense for this country consistent with the present prejudices of the people against universal training and with the need of national economy.

He spoke of his idea of voluntary personal service, and said that he wanted to bring about a condition in this country where every red blooded young man could feel that he had not done his duty unless he had taken the course of military training which will be offered in schools and colleges. Mr. Harding is for the Plattsbury training camp idea. He would have his new secretary of war educate the people on these lines. In his own mind he thinks that the lessons of 1917-18 have been sufficient to show the need of such training.

Opposes Wasteful Posts.

Mr. Harding said he was against "the waste of outlying, remote army posts where the cost of maintaining a few men was too high."

Mr. Harding added that his secretary of war will be a civilian who has had military experience and who is interested in the problems of national defense. This description would eliminate men of the type of Gen. Wood or Alvin T. Hart of Kentucky. Mr. Harding said he would like to appoint a man of the type of Senator Wadsworth of New York, chairman of the military affairs committee. His description would also apply to a man like Henry L. Stimson, former secretary of war, or Theodore Roosevelt Jr.

They Saw Active Service.

The delegation of ex-officers who called on Mr. Harding today consisted of Noble B. Judah Jr. of Chicago, former lieutenant colonel on the general staff; Horatio B. Hackett, Chicago banker, former colonel of the 124th field artillery, wounded by shellfire during the Argonne campaign; Tom Hammond, Chicago manufacturer, former football star of Michigan, former lieutenant colonel 149th field artillery; Karl Klumpp, railroad man of Kansas City, and Henry J. Reilly, Chicago newspaper man, and former West Pointer, former colonel of the 149th field artillery.

These men outlined in general terms to Mr. Harding their ideas of the right kind of preparedness for this country. They said they had served through the war and expected to serve in another war, that they had seen the results of unpreparedness and did not want to go through with that again. The best method of national preparedness, they said, was universal military service.

LOVE TRIANGLE FIGURES

Auther's Wife Calls Him "Mystery Man"

Pierre Paul Auther, Highland Park chemist, who with a pistol compelled Philip M. Franzen, University of Wisconsin decorator, to sign away his claims to his wife, with whom Auther then eloped, has always been a man of mystery to Mrs. Auther. Before her marriage she was Miss Blanche Ellen Harvey Tregeas of Edinburgh, Scotland.

Her parents died when she was a child and she and two sisters were raised under the guardianship of a priest in Montreal, Canada. She graduated as a nurse from the Italian hospital in New York City, went overseas with the Canadian troops, and won a lieutenant's rank by her work in Belgium and France. A syringe burst, injuring her sight, and she was decorated for bravery by the British government.

Meets Auther at Powder Plant.

Upon her return from the war she went to work for the Du Pont Powder company at Pompton Lakes, N. J., and it was there she met Auther. Following a rapid fire courtship of only eight days, they were married in Jersey City Aug. 13, 1918. They have one daughter, Jeanne Anna Huguey Auther, a little over a year old.

The only knowledge Mrs. Auther has of her husband's antecedents or of his early history is what she gleaned from conversations with him. He claims to have the royal blood of Spain in his veins. His business card reads: "Mons. Pierre Paul Auther, Comte Pedro Paulo de Ertotaberrria del Cascelurgas" and a will which he executed on Dec. 17 last was signed "Pedro Paulo Hernandez Guimenez Rosario y Martinez y Castet y Ertotaberrria del Cascelurgas."

Tells Wife of Early Life.

He told his wife his mother was Spanish and his father a Frenchman. He was born at sea, he said, on a steamer which docked at Guerande, France. He was educated in Europe, he told her, and declared he had been excommunicated and disowned by his family. Mrs. Auther says he has taken a vow never to return to France.

In 1913 he claimed to have been working for the French secret service in Germany. He possesses a document issued by the French government excusing him from military service on account of physical incapacity. It states he was injured by an explosion of chemicals which broke both legs and affected his heart, so he can neither walk nor run for any considerable distance.

Following their marriage the Authers came to Chicago and resided until last July at 417 East Forty-fifth street. "Shortly after our marriage," said

GREAT BRITAIN REFUTES SOVIET TRADE CHARGES

Blames Moscow for Delay in Negotiations.

BY JOHN STEELE.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

LONDON, Jan. 6.—Lord Curzon, British foreign minister, dispatched tonight a message to M. Tchitcherine, the Russian commissioner of foreign affairs, which says:

"The Soviet government in the latest of its numerous notes repeats the assertion that the sole responsibility for the long drawn out negotiations lies with Great Britain."

"The first decision to reopen trade with Russia was taken by the supreme council a year ago, when telegrams were exchanged with Russian negotiators in Europe and at Moscow. There seemed every prospect of success until Great Britain was informed by Moscow that M. Litvinoff had been appointed Russia's chief representative abroad."

Couldn't Receive Litvinoff.

"The Soviet government knew it was impossible for Great Britain to receive M. Litvinoff because of his previous activities in England."

"The delay between April and Leonid Krassin's arrival in England again was due solely to Soviet Russia's attempts to resist upon acceptance of Litvinoff. Negotiations with Krassin followed, which resulted last June in the British outlining conditions upon which a trade agreement could be concluded and Moscow's acceptance of this plan last July should have led to an early conclusion."

"Unfortunately the Polish episode intervened and the conduct of Soviet Russia rendered peaceful negotiations for the moment impossible."

"Further delays in the negotiations were due at Russia's treatment of British subjects in Russia. As soon as the exchange of prisoners was under way, negotiations were resumed with M. Krassin, and the fact that the agreement still is unsigned, is due to Soviet Russia's failure to abide by her own conditions."

"In these circumstances the British government hopes Soviet Russia will empower M. Krassin to sign a trade agreement on his return as the first step toward the reconstruction and material progress of eastern Europe."

M. Tchitcherine's Note.

M. Tchitcherine from Moscow on Dec. 31 sent a note to Great Britain, which declared:

"The Russian government while waiting in vain for reply from Great Britain learns with surprise that Sir Robert Horne in the house of commons lays blame for delay in reaching a trade agreement solely upon Russia and furthermore, calls upon Russia for proof of her good faith."

"Implicitly Russia repeats that sole responsibility for long delay lies with the British."

BUSINESS SLUMP IN GERMANY LAID TO TARIFF LAW

Rate of Exchange Stops
U. S. Cotton Buying.

BY GEORGE SELDES.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

BERLIN, Jan. 6.—The optimism which permeated German industry a month ago is disappearing. Business is slumping, and there are 16,000 more on the unemployed list than a month ago.

The government's export and import taxation, which throttles trade, is changed on one point—salt herrings have been placed on the free list.

However, there are few strike troubles. Hard coal production has not been interrupted, but industries requiring its use are suffering because of the inability to transport it on account of the low waters in the canals.

Central and South American buyers have again appeared on the market, and the Scandinavians, Holland, and Switzerland are good buyers.

Generally the industrial situation was not improved by Christmas orders. The piano industry is at a standstill. The trend of textile prices is downward. The high rate of exchange prevents Germans from buying American cotton now that the prices are low, but there are sufficient stocks and orders on hand to keep the mills working for months.

Upper Rhine Almost Dry;

River Trade at Standstill

GENEVA, Jan. 6.—The upper Rhine has virtually gone dry and there has been no water connection between Basel and Strasbourg since Nov. 18. A large number of boats have been stranded as a result.

The depth of water at Kehl is only 90 centimeters (35 1/2 inches) and at other places it has dropped to 50 centimeters. The hitherto extensive river trade is at a standstill, fish can be caught by hand and dangerous sand banks are piling up. Such a situation has not existed in 125 years.

Prussian Communists to

Levy Minimum Wage Tax

WALD, Rhenish Prussia, Jan. 6.—Communists, who are in the majority of the Wald town council, propose to float a municipal loan of 5,000,000 marks out of which the heads of families of two or more children, whose annual income is less than 12,000 marks, shall be paid the amount required to make up that total. The interest on the loan is to be covered out of a "prosperity tax" to be assessed against those whose incomes exceed 50,000 marks.

Mme. Marguerite, Modiste,

Insane; Confined in Home

Mme. Marguerite, noted modiste, is confined to her rooms at 2841 South Michigan avenue, having been adjudged insane, and the Probate court has appointed the Central Trust company as conservator of her estate, including her business. Overwork is held responsible for her breakdown, and to prevent her ending her life a corps of nurses is attending her.

U. S. URGED TO TAKE UP DEBTS OWED BRITAIN

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

LONDON, Jan. 6.—Sir J. C. Stamp, a famous British economist and formerly chief of the inland revenue service, writing in the Times today, suggests a plan for stabilizing world finance by which America would take over Europe's debt to Great Britain.

He points out that Great Britain owes the United States $4,335,000,000, while the allied European nations owe Great Britain $5,655,000,000. In other words, Great Britain borrowed from the United States to lend to the allies before America entered the war, partly because England was better security than the others. The British economist believes that if America had entered the war earlier it probably would have lent direct.

He also declares that America would have a better chance in getting collections than Great Britain, because it would be less amenable to political and other considerations affecting Europe. He says such an arrangement would almost immediately restore the dollar-pound exchange, thus reestablishing Anglo-American trade on a sound and permanent basis.

ACTION ON BOND STIRS KERSTEN; WIEHE OFFICE HIT

Jurist Assails Methods in Criminal Case.

The release on bonds of Lawrence Simons, alleged member of the Guy Wadsworth band of snappers, created a furor yesterday in the bond department of the state's attorney's office, of which Christian F. Wiehe is head. Judge George Kersten accused the department of trying to "put something over on him."

The matter dates back to Dec. 3, last year, when Simons and three others forfeited bonds aggregating $140,000 in Chief Justice Charles A. McDonald's court.

Judge Refuses to Approve.

Last Monday Attorney Jacob Diamond, 4766 Drexel boulevard, attorney for Simons, decided to surrender his client, and give bail for him. He made out a schedule which was approved by Assistant State's Attorney Joseph P. Ryan. Judge McDonald refused to approve it and yesterday a motion was made for a change of venue from him.

The case was assigned to Judge Kersten. The bond was presented to him, bearing the approval of the state's attorney's office and on the duplicate written in ink was the notation: "O. K. McDonald." Judge Kersten accepted the bond.

Wiehe Denies Approval.

Judge McDonald disapproved of the action and the state's attorney's office was asked to explain. Mr. Wiehe said the bond had not been approved, that it was under investigation. Judge Kersten finished a case he was trying and came downstairs.

"It appears that I can't trust anybody in this office," he told Wiehe and Ryan. "Apparently I have to have men around me to protect me. I have been on this bench for eighteen years and I'm not going to let any of you put anything over on me now."

It was admitted that Ryan erred in allowing the bond to leave his possession following Judge McDonald's refusal to accept it. He admitted having approved it and declared that the notation "O. K. McDonald" was his

Smoke Inspector D. C. Stukey of Evanston gives Hans Olson a lesson in smoke prevention.

NATURE used to be wonderful in Evanston, but that was before the chimneys succumbed to smokitis. Now the pristine hues are concealed by soot and the noble facades of the public and business buildings resemble the Michigan avenue side of the Chicago library. Four janitors have been arrested during the last week on charges of tossing a careless shovelful, but there has been no abatement of the nuisance. Smoke Inspector D. C. Stukey and Building Inspector P. S. Anderson yesterday summoned all janitors to the city hall and lectured to them on the gentle art of scientific stoking.

"The fundamental principle of avoiding smoke," declared Mr. Stukey, "is to keep the live coals in the rear of the firebox and the green coals in front. In that way the carbon will be absorbed before entering the chimney."

William Quesse, president of the Chicago Janitors' union, which includes that of Evanston, was a visitor to the suburb. There was reticence concerning his mission, but a janitor who asked that his name be withheld told a reporter of True Tribune:

"Quesse notified us to let him know if any more of us were pinched for violating the smoke ordinance. 'I'll call a strike of janitors and tie up the whole town,' he said."

Mr. Quesse could not be reached by telephone last night.

Cop Shoots Striker.

At Halsted street and Boston avenue Policeman Herman Wiegman saw Zachararczyk beating Ryan and Scarco, and after a struggle arrested the striker. Zachararczyk broke away and ran. Wiegman shot him.

At the county hospital it was said Zachararczyk had slight chances for recovery.

Representatives of the strikers will meet with the employers today in an effort to reach an agreement.

WILL TALK ON BUSINESS.

Roger Babson of Wellesley Hills, Mass., business statistician, will address the advertising council of Association of Commerce at 7:30 p. m. today in the Cannon room at the Hotel Morrison on "What's the Matter with Business."

WINDOW WASHER STRIKE PICKET IS SHOT BY COP

Felled as He Flees After Beating Nonunion Men.

The police were instructed last night to take extra precautions to prevent further clashes between the striking window washers and the nonunion men who took their positions.

The window washers struck last Monday when their employers refused to concede them a flat increase of $10 a week.

Pickets were stationed in various places where windows were to be cleaned and the police were kept busy subduing strikers. Many with their tools as weapons engaged in pitched battles with the nonunion men who replaced them.

One Shot During Day.

The casualties yesterday were: Steve Zachararczyk, a striker living at 326 Townsend street; shot and probably fatally wounded.

Vito Scarco, 410 South Lincoln street; severely beaten with a broom handle.

John Ryan, 547 West Madison street; knocked down with a club and kicked into unconsciousness.

C. Tomczynski, 1555 West Chicago avenue; knocked from top of ten foot ladder and severely beaten.

AUSTRALIAN EGG STIRS SCRAMBLE IN MARKET HERE

U. S. Product Just Boils at Being Undersold.

Said the new arrival, Mr. Australian Egg: "I'm a little bit cheaper, I must confess."

Said our old standby, Mr. Chicago Egg: "Now, Mr. Smarty, please don't get fresh."

We have with us today Mr. Australian Egg, not at all a hard boiled gentleman, but one who carries his shell extraordinarily well. Weathering storms, typhoons, schools of whales, rough seas, and a five weeks' journey, he has arrived in Chicago sunny side up for the first time, and has caused a scramble in the egg market.

Although his journey was a long one, Mr. Australian Egg arrived as fresh and businesslike as some American eggs. He made his bow to the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday and commanded a price lower than the local egg family.

Hens Here Loaf on Job.

Three cars of the Australian eggs were brought here by A. F. Thibodeau & Co., butter and egg brokers in the Ogden building. They were bought in San Francisco immediately after their arrival from Sidney, R. L. Elster, one of the members of the firm, had to go west to purchase eggs because the hens here apparently were hibernating.

"We were so short of eggs," he said, "that I went west to get eggs from China. Instead I found a shipment from Australia and bought the whole lot. I found, to my surprise, that I could still undersell the market here."

Members of the market board were surprised when I put the eggs up for the price I did. Local eggs were bringing 65 cents a dozen and I sold mine for 55 1/2 and 60.

A test was made by the board's candler. He found only 6 spoiled eggs out of 150 dozens. None was broken.

More Shipments Due.

One of the biggest consignments of the eggs was received by M. J. Powers, 340 West South Water street.

The entire venture was so successful the egg men say, that more shipments of the Australian product are expected when colder weather sets in. The hens here in the last few days have evidently feared that their jobs would be taken from them, as they have started laying again—of maybe the weather man has had something to do with it.

BREAKING THE HEN STRIKE

These eggs that Miss Nell Whitney is displaying were brought from Australia to meet the Chicago shortage caused by the recent loafing spell of the great American hen. The antipodes product was sold lower than the domestic yesterday.

CHICAGO BOWS AS TEN MORE GOLD STARS COME HOME

Ten more heroes came back from the battlefields of France yesterday and Chicago forgot business to pay silent homage to its dead. The bodies were placed in a room of the La Salle street station pending funeral arrangements by friends and relatives.

The hero dead and their next of kin are:

PRIVATE KURT A. BOEHM, Company C, 39th infantry; Albert Boehm, 2541 Gladys avenue.

MECHANIC GEORGE A. DUNLOP, provisional replacement unit, 3d corps; Mrs. Frances S. Dunlop, 1633 West Thirty-fourth street.

SERGEANT WILLIAM PLETCHER, Company C, 270th field artillery; Mrs. Frances Baker, 1208 East Sixteenth street.

CORPORAL CHARLES A. HUBER, headquarters company, 122d field artillery; Charles C. Huber, 835 North Hermitage avenue.

PRIVATE WILLIAM KRYSZTOFA, Company D, 127th infantry; Mrs. Jennie Souranowski, 501 West One Hundred and Twenty-third street.

PRIVATE CHARLES KUCERA, Company G, 16th infantry; Anton Kuera, 2535 Central Park avenue.

PRIVATE ARTHUR LINDSTROM, Company D, 121st infantry; Mrs. Charlotte Lindstrom, 4858 Erie street.

PRIVATE PETER NORGAAARD, Company E, 4th infantry; Jens Norgaard, 7788 South Park avenue.

PRIVATE BARNETT PARTNER, section 578, ambulance corps; Louis Partner, 1222 South Lawndale avenue.

END J. BULL'S OIL GRABS, M'KELLAR PLEA IN SENATE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 6.—(Special.)—Great Britain's efforts to control the world's oil supply and thus perpetuate her supremacy of the seas was the target of a sharp attack by Senator McKellar of Tennessee in the senate today.

He declared that unless the United States took immediate steps to protect itself it would soon find its trade and shipping entirely at the mercy of Great Britain because of her control of oil.

He stated that American concerns were being shut out of British fields in all parts of the world while British companies were permitted to gain a firm footing in American fields.

He urged a law to close American oil fields to the nationals of any nation shutting Americans out of its fields.

Great Britain, he said, is getting about 50 per cent of her oil supplies from the United States.

HOOVER RELIEF AIDED POLES IN WAR, REED SAYS

Former Food Director Is Assailed in Senate.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 6.—Herbert Hoover's administration of food relief enterprises in Europe was criticized and praised in the senate today during an hour of debate resulting from recent charges of Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri, that Mr. Hoover had used a portion of America's relief appropriations for maintenance of the Polish army.

Senators Hitchcock, Democrat of Nebraska, and Kellogg, Republican of Minnesota, defended the former food administrator, while Senator Reed renewed his criticism.

"Made Whole World Wonder."

Mr. Hoover should be given credit for "an accomplishment at the magnitude of which the whole world wonders," Senator Hitchcock declared in presenting matter to show that no American relief supplies had been turned over to the Polish army.

American army officers, the senator said, were vigilant in their effort to keep the supplies for civilian use.

Senator Reed declared that it did not matter whether the supplies went to the Polish civilians or army.

"Bolstered Up Polish War?"

"They were given to her for the purpose of bolstering her up and enable her to carry on her war," the Missouri senator declared.

"In these rhapsodies about Hoover," Senator Reed said, "some senators show a mental atmosphere into which the odor of sanctity and a British accent throws them."

"I haven't been able to get all the facts to bear out my statement about the aid given the Polish army, but the fact is the grain corporation, after March, 1920, furnished the Polish government with $24,013,000 worth of flour, taking its obligations in exchange. I don't care whether the food went to the army or the civil population sustaining the army."

More than twenty witnesses were heard, the discussion being confined to schedule A of the present tariff law which relates to chemicals, oils, and paints.

PENROSE BACKS FARMER TARIFF; FOR QUICK ACTION

He Wants It Law at Present Session.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

Washington, D. C., Jan. 6.—(Special.)—Denying reports that he is seeking to kill the house emergency agricultural tariff bill, Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania, chairman of the senate finance committee, today declared his intention of supporting the measure.

Senator Penrose denied that the eastern manufacturing interests are opposed to the bill. Before making the statement Senator Penrose talked with Will H. Hays, chairman of the Republican national committee.

"I would be the last man in the country to hesitate about supporting an emergency measure of this kind," Senator Penrose said. "I shall, therefore, support this bill and do what I can to secure its passage at the present session of congress."

Want Chemical Industry Aided.

Importance of adequate protection of the domestic chemical industry from the standpoint of national defense was emphasized by many speakers at the opening of hearings before the house ways and means committee today on the general revision of the tariff.

More than twenty witnesses were heard, the discussion being confined to schedule A of the present tariff law which relates to chemicals, oils, and paints.

In most cases today's witnesses asked for a return to the duties provided in the Payne-Aldrich tariff law.

They insisted that the difference between wages in this country and Germany and other countries is so great, particularly in the light of present exchange conditions, that protection is necessary.

Friendly German Methods.

Mr. Fordney said when the Dow Chemical company attempted to sell its products in Germany a representative of the German chemical industry informed him that a $25,000,000 "yellow dog" fund would be drawn upon by the Germans to put the Dow company out of business in the United States if it continued to sell its products in Germany.

Mr. Fordney said that the Dow company refused to withdraw its products from Germany, and as a result German chemicals were sold in this country below the cost of production for a period of more than three years.

CROWDER SILENT AFTER TALK WITH CUBAN PRESIDENT

HAVANA, Jan. 6.—Gen. Enoch Crowder, accompanied by Boas W. Long, the United States minister to Cuba, and the captain of the cruiser Minnesota and his aids, went to the palace at 3 o'clock this afternoon, where Gen. Crowder had a conference of fifty minutes with President Menocal. Gen. Crowder declined to make any statement after the conference.

Dr. Pablo Desvermeine, the Cuban secretary of state, did not attend the conference, but said he was happy that Gen. Crowder had come to Havana.

Twenty-eight No. Dakota Bank Closed by the State

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 6.—The First State bank of Crystal Springs, with a capital stock of $10,000, closed its doors today, O. E. Lofthus, state bank examiner, announced this afternoon. He said shortages and irregularities were reported to have been the cause of the bank's closing. The total number of banks in the state recently closed now is twenty-eight, Mr. Lofthus said.

IN DEFENSE OF AMERICA.

Commissioner of Immigration Wallis told the senate committee considering the immigration bill that Europe is "literally moving to the United States."

This is an emphatic statement by an official in touch with the situation and it is corroborated, moreover, from other sources.

Yet the dispatch carrying Mr. Wallis' assertion goes on to note that it left members of the committee "well doubtful" of action to be taken on the bill during the time for one year. "Several members expressed doubt that any measures of restriction would be enacted at this session."

We understand that. The hearings held by the committee have brought out significant currents of life in America. Race, religion, and industrial self-interest have been expressed, and their organized pressure is being brought to bear upon the responsive nerve of politics to defeat or emasculate the measure.

Yet the issue is clear. It is the most important before congress and one of the simplest. If congress fails to give America protection it will sacrifice its highest duty, the defense of the republic, to selfish expediency and political cowardice.

The forces contending are, on the one side, those which would defend American standards, American institutions, American citizenship. They are concerned first and last with America and with protection of the integrity of America and progress. On the contrary side are those whose pocketbook is dominant over their patriotism and those who are more devoted to the list of alien race and culture than to America and her purposes.

If congress has not forgotten Nov. 2 it will realize that the great majority of the American people are Americans and do not propose to surrender their national integrity to the dividing currents of the outer world. This is the issue raised by the immigration bill. No other consideration can conceal or should be allowed to confuse it. We do not need labor now. Our own people want work. When we do need labor it should be admitted only on terms compatible with justice to our own American workers and with the preservation of the character of American life, American standards and customs, American institutions. Alienism has grown more insistent through organization and growing numbers. It is a threat to Americanism and to American national integrity. It should be challenged without further procrastination and defeated in an issue clear as that of restriction.

TWO AIDS TO BUILDING.

District Attorney Clyne announces that when the evidence is complete in the federal grand jury investigation of the alleged building monopoly in Chicago the case will dwarf the I. W. W. cases in interest and importance. Corroboration of his views is seen in the timidity of witnesses who are being carefully guarded and their names kept secret because of their fear of reprisals. Such fear indicates that they have something damaging to tell the jury.

Mr. Clyne's interest in the case is that of a prosecutor. It is important to him to a great extent in proportion to its sensational features, the extent of its ramifications, and the prominence of the men or organizations involved.

But the case has an importance much greater than that. It is the importance of its influence upon the resumption of building in Chicago. Building cannot return to normal unless the artificial influences now blocking it are removed. Unless it returns to normal all the business and development of the city will be restricted. It follows that normal business prosperity and development will not revive until these influences which delay building are removed. In so far as they are criminal influences we may look to the federal action to remove them and punish their perpetrators. In that respect the case is even more important than Mr. Clyne describes it. It bears on every pocketbook and every line of business in the city.

In so far as the influences blocking building are not criminal, we can look for no help from the grand jury. Economic difficulties must be met by private resources, energy, and ingenuity. These are as important to the revival of building as is criminal prosecution for anti-building conspiracy. It will have an equally beneficial effect upon all business.

We may therefore hope for results from Mr. Clyne, but we must also look to building tradesmen, contractors, material supply men, and bankers for help. Methods are up to them. Results are what the public is interested in.

STAY IN HAITI; GET OUT OF THE PHILIPPINES.

The United States has not completed the purpose of its occupation of Haiti and should stay in it. It has completed the purpose of its occupation of the Philippines and should get out. It is inimical to the welfare of the United States that there should be barbaric countries within its sphere of responsibility and action. It may be inimical to American pride that there should be military responsibility for part of Asia.

In the Caribbean our moral responsibilities and national interests run parallel. Eye Witness has been giving sympathetic pictures of Haitian life, revealing a fringe of superficial culture upon a mass of crude, cruel barbarism. The polite veneer of the port town aristocracy has no substance of self-government, and the depths of Haiti are the depths of ignorance, superstition, animality, and barbarity.

It is the destiny and the obligation of the United States to clear the sphere in which it operates of misery and to establish civilized conditions of American interest and American reputation and that this nation do not permit to exist within its shadow conditions which are dangerous and reprehensible.

We have rejected the Armenian mandate because Armenia is not our problem, but the problem of other nations quite capable of handling it. If they cannot turn the work over to the United States. We are or ought to be ready to get out of the Philippines because they are outside the region in which we ought to assume responsibility, and they are ready now for independence, or ought to be. A whole generation of Filipino voters has been born under the American flag and trained in American schools. It ought not to be necessary to raise another generation.

The limitations of our interests and our responsibilities are apparent. The scope of them also is apparent, and the Caribbean falls within the real American interest and responsibility. If the Haitian character will permit the Cuban development Haiti should have the Cuban treatment.

Corrective expeditions are the least satisfactory methods of producing the ordered state needed. They wait until disorder has the upper hand, and then force is needed to suppress it.

A continuing and considerate rule is needed until the Haitians show what they can do for themselves. We have always found out that a disordered section of North American soil is an invitation for Europe to make trouble. For that reason we cannot afford to have disorder.

WHY FEED EUROPEAN CHILDREN?

Gen. Dawes, treasurer of the fund for starving children of Europe, says Chicago is behind its quota; in fact, substantially short of the total sought to be raised. One million is asked of us. Four hundred thousand has been subscribed.

Doubtless this is in some degree inevitable. Business depression and the uncertainty of the immediate future are not conducive to liberal giving by those who are chiefly relied upon to contribute. The general public shares this mood. Nevertheless the fund should be made. We do not urge the humanitarian claims, the profound appeal of this tragedy of innocent and helpless children. That should need no urging. Only by shutting our eyes to the frightful scene can we avoid being moved by it to practical action. But above the fate of any individual is a higher consideration. The fate of occidental civilization, of the progress of our own white race, is seriously involved.

The wastage of the war has been a serious blow at the society of which in the broadest basic sense America is a part. But the wastage threatened, and, indeed, going on in spite of formal peace, may very well carry Europe beyond hope of convalescence.

The millions of children now starving for lack of food, of which we have a vast surplus, are the basis of the future. If they die or grow up depleted in vitality the whole character of our civilization will be deteriorated. Europe's productivity will be reduced materially, and with the lowering of her production will come a lowering of her standard of living. Our own trade will fall off. Our best market will be restricted. Debts owed us will not be paid. In short, our material prosperity will be seriously and perhaps permanently affected.

But that is only one side of the picture. In central Europe there existed a body of scientific thought and its organized agencies of the highest order, and in the midst of the conquest of knowledge. It is one of the worst misfortunes produced by war psychology that the importance of German science, that vast structure of method and knowledge created by German and Austrian genius, has been forgotten because of the errors of a military caste or of an erroneous political philosophy.

Yet if this is destroyed, with the middle class now dying under our eyes, as it will be destroyed unless aid comes soon, we shall lose one of the greatest resources of human enlightenment and progress ever developed by the genius of a race. European society will sink to a lower plane, will turn back upon its own path, and America's loss will be heavy indeed.

Finally we have to consider seriously our interest as members of the white race in the preservation of its place in the world as against the possible encroachments of other races far outnumbering our own. This may seem a remote danger or fantastic. But a glance backward in history will bring vivid second thought. We cannot afford to have a serious depletion of the numbers and vitality of the European peoples.

We have our invisible guest, the starving child of stricken Europe. We cannot think warm hearted and happy America will fall her, but if we do we shall not only belie our humanity but our intelligence, for lack of the hollow eyed child is a dark menace to the future of the civilized world.

Europe is on the brink of ruin. American wealth and strength must be promptly and freely expended to avert the catastrophe.

Editorial of the Day

THE ANGLO-JAP TREATY.

(Philadelphia Public Ledger.)

The word from Washington that the British government will consult with the new Harding administration before it concludes a treaty of alliance with Japan to replace the old one, which expires next July, will be shockingly bad news to our "Fat Boys," who are always trying to make our flesh creep by picturing the British and Japanese as falling together on poor, unprotected America. Just what the British would expect to happen to Canada in that case the United States has no right to imagine. All they care to know is that the British and Japanese are allies for certain purposes and that they are quite naturally talking of renewing this limited alliance, and from this they deduce the ridiculous conclusion that these two powers might turn their alliance against America without any regard for tragic consequences to themselves.

Nether the British nor the Japanese are such fools. If there were not a shred of documentary evidence to show that their alliance has already been pointedly declared not to bind the British to fight America, common sense would surely do the same thing. It would be suicide for the British, whatever it might be for Japan. We are the one nation that has no enemies along an exposed and wholly unfortified British frontier, with the most valued member of the British overseas dominions behind it. The Canadians, of course, are as fine fighters as the world holds; but they are only 8,000,000 of us to 100,000,000 and more. It is not hard to imagine that the British would wantonly challenge us to attack Canada solely because of their love for "the beautiful eyes" of Japan?

But, as a matter of fact, we do not have to depend upon surmise or deduction. The London Times reminds us that the British deliberately changed their treaty with Japan in 1909 for the express purpose of putting it upon record that this Japanese treaty did not bind them to war with us. It did not do so, as a matter of fact, before this change; but the British wanted to make it very clear to get it put down in writing, so that there could not even be the smallest misunderstanding on the point.

BEWARE BLUE-WHITE EYES.

UNTIL yesterday I had never heard that when you see a person the whites of whose eyes have a distinctly bluish cast you may expect his bones to break under slight provocation. Today I know that I am just eighty years behind the times. The condition was first described by Ammon in 1841.

I have noticed that teeth with a bluish cast, a kind of bluish porcelain whiteness, are very brittle, and chip off very easily; on the other hand, that nuts could be cracked by the jaws of persons having yellowish teeth.

But how many blue sclerotic people I have overlooked! I will never know. In the language of the poet, "I have missed one kiss for all eternity." I have missed one kiss for all eternity.

After Ammon wrote about this in 1841 much about it was added to the sum total of information until 1900, when Eddowes wrote about a girl with blue eye whites who had ten bony fractures in two years. Her father had the same kind of eyes, and likewise had brittle bones.

Here were three links—inheritance, blue eyes and whites, and brittle bones. Soon Eddowes and Hartman reported a family in which they traced the combination for five generations. They examined fifty-five members of this family, and found that thirty-one of them had the combination. They say that in a family where this combination is running it affects 82 per cent of the females and 44 per cent of the males.

Somewhere along at that period somebody added a fourth characteristic—to wit, shortness of stature. Then came Bronson, and added a fifth—osteoporosis, or, in plain English, "brittle bones," which develops at about 30 years of age.

Bronson studied the condition in several families, one of which was his own. In one family he studied thirty-four persons belonging to four generations. Twenty-one had gray-blue eye whites (sclera), twenty suffered from brittle bones, seven had osteoporosis and deafness. The deafness does not come on until 20 years of age and after.

In a study made of two Hollanders they found one family of blue sclerotic people, of whom seven were deaf and ten had brittle bones. In a second family they found three deaf members.

To this combination some one has added a sixth, but less important quality, to wit—tendency to develop sprains under slight provocation. The condition seems so well established that its eugenic laws have been worked out. The condition is inherited only through males of an affected family do not transmit it. Male children of unaffected females do not develop the combination. Bateson characterizes this type of inheritance as knight's move, which term chess players will understand.

Some one has said that blue sclerotics is the best of positive signs because the deafness does not develop until after 30 years of age.

ABOUT DUCTLESS GLANDS. F. M. writes: "I. Does the thyroid gland, or any of the other ductless glands, have any effect on the growth of a person's hair?"

"2. Would thyroid extract, if taken by a person who is fast becoming bald, stop the hair from falling out or promote its regrowth?"

"3. What is keratin? I have read of a preparation called keratin, said to have been discovered by some German professor, which promotes hair growth."

REPLY. 1. The ductless glands have a great deal to do with the growth of hair. The thyroid, parathyroids and pituitaries have each been proved to affect the growth of hair.

"2. I do not think so. 3. Keratin is the horny material made out of skin cells and forming the principal part of hair, nails, corns and calluses. It is a substance which I hope no one has stolen this name for a patented product. It has been in use since before I and I were born.

SOME UNUSUAL CASES. Mrs. M. L. asked if it is possible for a woman to have children after the menopause. Mrs. A. T. B. replies that her sister had seven children before she was 40 years of age. TRACTION BODY'S REPORT DODGES SUBWAY ROUTES

No subway routes will be recommended in the report of Mayor Thompson's traction commission which is to be laid before the city council this morning. It was announced yesterday. It was explained that the commissioners—Samuel A. Ettelson, Charles R. Francis, John P. Garner and P. H. Moynihan—fear the announcement of proposed subway routes would make political enemies of citizens not benefited by the routes. It was deemed safer to stick closely by the "people's ownership 5 cent fare plan" on which the mayor made his fall campaign.

For City Ownership.

The commission, which was given $250,000 to spend and has been at work for more than a year, will recommend municipal ownership and operation of the city's transportation systems, with the management in the hands of a popularly elected commission of six men, the plan advocated by the mayor.

Enabling legislation to permit the creation of a "local transportation district" of which the six men will be trustees will also be recommended. The enabling legislation would permit the trustees to "acquire, extend, control, and operate street railways serving the public in the city of Chicago and the surrounding territory."

Committee to Study Scheme.

The commission's report and the draft of the enabling bill will be referred to the local transportation committee, of which Ald. U. S. Schwartz is chairman. An appropriation of $25,000 has been made to permit the committee to make a careful study of the scheme and to compare it with municipal ownership and operation of car lines in other cities.

HUNDREDS PASS HOLDUP.

While hundreds of home bound pedestrians streamed past the doors of Ollie Klemm's butcher shop, at 177 North Kedzie avenue, last night about 5:30 o'clock, two young men rode up in an automobile, alighted, entered the store with drawn revolvers, lined up seven customers, locked the proprietor in the ice box, robbed him of $300 and the contents of $500 worth of jewelry, and escaped.

Meanest Thief Steals Needlework of Girl Cripple as She Lies Powerless to Prevent It.

MISS MINNA MOODY.

Chicago's meanest thief has been discovered. Without fear of contradiction, the honor is given the man who broke into the children's shop of Miss Minna Moody, 532 East Sixty-third street, several days ago, and ransacked the place while the owner, a cripple, lay in a rear room powerless to hinder him. Miss Moody has spent her entire life in a wheelchair, having been a cripple since birth. The police of the Grand Crossing station are making a search for the thief, who escaped with several hundred dollars' worth of expensive needlework done by Miss Moody.

JUDGE FISHER TALKS ON RUSSIA.

UTILITY BOARD TO QUIT JAN. 10; 'L' FARES STAND

Shortly after entering the order in the only important rate case pending—the application of the "L" lines for an increased fare—Chairman James H. Wilkerson let it be known yesterday that he and his associates on the Illinois public utilities commission will retire from office next Monday.

"The statutes provide," said Mr. Wilkerson, "that the commissioners' terms run until their successors are appointed, but some time ago we presented our resignations to take effect Jan. 10."

His associates are Walter A. Shaw, Evanston; Frank H. Funk, Bloomington; Patrick J. Lucey, Chicago, and Thomas E. Dempsey, East St. Louis.

"L" Fares Remain Same.
Forecasts of the "L" fare decision published in THE TRIBUNE proved entirely correct. The cash fare, the ticket rate, and the Evanston rate remain as they are.

The valuation fixed on the elevated properties was $86,280,000. This does not allow the claims of the companies of $6,500,000 for bond discount or the $4,500,000 they asked for contractors' profits.

The commission placed the original cost of the properties at $71,500,000. It determined this cost minus depreciation was $66,775,000, and the cost to reproduce them now it fixed at $80,250,000. The allowance for going value was $8,000,000, and for working capital $1,000,000.

OTHER RATES CHANGED.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 6.—An increase was granted today from $1.40 to $1.60 for gas delivered by the North Shore Gas company of Waukegan. The ruling affects Waukegan, North Chicago, Area, Deerfield, Glencoe, Highland Park, Highland, Lake Bluff, Lake Forest, Libertyville, and Winnetka. The new rate per 1,000 cubic feet is effective from Jan. 1.

Other changes in rates in downstate cities were announced.

FRANTZIUS HEIRS LOSE IN ESTATE BATTLE

Refuses to Oust Administrators.

Henry Horner in the Probate court yesterday denied a petition to remove Gustav F. Fischer and Samuel J. MacDonnell as administrators of the estate of Frederick W. Von Frantzius.

Attorneys George W. Plummer and N. Goodnow, representing Von Frantzius and Mrs. Anna Von Frantzius, heirs to the estate, announced an appeal would be taken and recovery of nearly $2,000,000 in the bonds of the administrators at issue.

The court set aside the claim of the estate that the fortune of approximately $2,000,000 had been dissipated and all claims aggregating more than $100,000, attorneys' fees amounting to $100,000, were awarded to Harry H. Barber and two associates, $35,000 to the estate of Mrs. A. MacDonnell, who was appointed administrator by Mr. Frank. The latter's fees have not been paid.

Assistant Probate Judge Harry G. was assigned by Judge Horner to investigate some of the allegations made on behalf of the heirs.

His "Bucket Shop" Probe.

Appeal from Judge Horner's ruling was taken, according to Attorney Barber, in an endeavor to establish transactions of the administrators with Ben Marcus, former business partner of Von Frantzius, related to "bucket shopping."

The court holds, said Judge Horner, in a review of the testimony, that the administrators, Fischer, MacDonnell, and Frankland, have not been guilty of any misconduct. In fact, it is convinced they have done exceptionally well.

Balls at Luncheons, Taxes.

While it may be Von Frantzius was dealing in stocks, that does not mean his customers, later creditors, were engaged in gambling. It is known he bought stocks for customers and these were later sold without their knowledge. These claims were not gambling suits and the administrators were right in allowing them.

Expenditure of $17,500 by the administrators for suppers, luncheons, hotels, and taxicabs will be investigated further, it was stated.

HOTEL MEN SEE
CHANCE FOR 5 CT.
PIE PRETTY SOON

A lot of pie for a nickel as a possibility in the near future in the leading hotel in the city was discussed by the Chicago Hotel Men's association at the Drake hotel last night. The association met to elect officers and to exchange ideas.

Hope was expressed that a reduction of 5 per cent in rates could be effected in spring. The hotel men congratulated themselves that they have so far escaped the term profiteer and do not intend that it shall be applied to them.

The good name of Chicago is in their hands, President Noel of the Association of Commerce told them, and they are best boost the city by being fair in their prices.

Officers elected were: Herman Mack, president; E. L. Matthews, vice president; Robert W. Clark, secretary; E. J. Stevens, Edward Mayer, Frank Bering, R. J. Hopkins, John Burke, and A. G. Hanson, directors.

Two Tailored Designs
Are Sketched, $75

On the right is a smart model of a fine quality of tricotine with flaring panel back trimmed effectively with bands of stitching. Tucks make an attractive trimming for the tricotine Suit on the left. Both are excellent values at this price.

Smart, New Tailored Blouses
In Annual Sale, $5 and $6

SMART, attractive styles and fine materials make these Blouses very unusual at such low prices. They are well made, tailored styles—typically suit Blouses.

The collection includes an attractive high neck style in Japanese silk, and two of the same material, low neck designs with plaited fronts, each at $5. Of a good quality of pongee is another Blouse with plaited front, $6.

Welcome for Cold Weather
Good Quality Blankets and Comforters, Special, $7.50

WITH a number of months of cold weather ahead, such an offer as this is unusually timely.

Cotton and wool Blankets, extra size, 72x90, made in our own mills, an unusually good value at $7.50.

Mixed wool and cotton Comforters, covered with good quality figured silkline, 72x84, $7.50.

Frocks for the Miss
Hint of New Spring Modes

NEW Frocks, piquant and quaint in design, boast of basques, plaited ruffles and puffings, and interesting beaded and embroidered trimming, too. Taffeta, crisp and delightful, is being worn this season as never before, while satin or soft charmeuse combines very often with crepe Georgette to make an attractive and youthful Frock.

Sketched Are but Two of Many Lovely Frocks

Fashioned of black taffeta, the Frock on the left has eyelet embroidered trimming under which henna crepe Georgette displays an unusual bit of color, $55.

On the right is a black satin Frock with tucked under panel over gray crepe Georgette underdrop. Gray beaded designs are an attractive feature, too, $75.

House Dresses, Sixth Floor, Wabash.

For the Brisk Canter on Bright Sunny Days
Smart Habits

RIDING things are quite as important to the woman who rides as her street costume or evening frock, and that they should be smart is very necessary. Many are the jaunty Habits shown in a wide selection of styles. Woolen fitted Habits of covert cloth have flaring skirts, colored flannel coats go with novelty weave breeches, and paddock styles come in various materials. For Southern wear are linen Habits, or there are sleeveless coats in plain colors to be worn with checked breeches.

The model sketched is fashioned of Pongee, very smart at $75.

Sale of Sheets and Pillow Cases

AS this is the only Sale of its kind during the year it will pay the housewife to replenish her supplies while these unusual values prevail.

Those familiar with our standard qualities will be interested to know that Marshall Field & Company's Percal, Atlas and "Soft Spun" Sheets and Pillow Cases, as well as other brands, plain and hemstitched, are very specially priced throughout the month. Also all Sheetings, Pillow Cases, Muslin, Cambrics, Longcloths, etc., by the yard are specially priced.

Moderately Priced Frocks
Of Wool or Satin,
Attractive New Styles, $45

WOMEN having a limited amount to invest in a Frock will receive maximum value and satisfaction from either one of these Frocks featured. A strong effort has been made to give high quality at the lowest possible prices, and a glance at the attractive Frocks in this Section will show that we have attained our purpose.

Frock of Tricotine
A black satin underdrop is the foundation of the braid trimmed panel style Frock on the left.

Satin Afternoon Frock
The embroidered motifs are an interesting touch to this brown, navy, or black dress at right.

Figured Voile House Dresses
Present Attractive Styles and Excellent Values at $5.95

THE styles and materials of the House Dresses in this group are such as to make them delightful for outdoor wear later on. Some are made with overblouses and sashes. They are all made of figured voiles and in many cases trimmed with organdie collars and cuffs. Large tucks and ruffles are used cleverly, while a few are lace and organdie point trimmed. These Dresses can be visualized from the sketches in which a few of the many attractive styles are illustrated in the sketch below.

CASH REGISTER PROFIT SHARING WILL CONTINUE

Ottawa, Jan. 6.—The National Cash Register company's plan of sharing profits with employees will be continued in 1921.

Just before sailing for Europe to discuss business conditions, Vice President J. H. Barringer said, "President Johnson stated he desired the fifty per cent plan continued in 1921. The plan will be determined by an outside firm of accountants."

After net profits have been determined, 50 per cent on company's income will be deducted. The remainder will be divided into two equal parts, one-half to the company, the other half to the employees."

Paterson, N. J., Jan. 6.—The Federal Board of Governors of Associated Industries of Paterson today addressed an announcement to "the citizens of Paterson," asserting that all silk workers must return to a forty-eight hour a week basis by Jan. 17 and that lower wages are inevitable.

Would Avert Strikes.

Ottawa, Jan. 6.—Elimination of strikes and labor disputes in the building industry of Canada through the use of standardized wage agreements and contracts is contemplated in a plan to be considered by the Association of Canadian Building and Construction Industries at its annual session in Winnipeg beginning Jan. 19.

Wage Cut in Colorado.

Pueblo, Colo., Jan. 6.—By agreement between employees and the management, effective here today, a reduction of 15 per cent in wages will become effective Jan. 15 in the local plant of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company.

Plant to Reopen Jan. 15.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 6.—A six day a week working schedule will be put into effect at the local plant of the Studebaker corporation when it reopens Jan. 10. It was announced here today. The plant had been operating three days a week up until it closed for inventory.

Bonus for Employees.

Wilmington, Del., Jan. 6.—[Special.]—The bonus stock awards granted to employees by E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. for the year 1920 became the property of the beneficiaries today. The awards amounted to about 12,000 shares of common stock and 4,000 shares of debenture stock. The number of employees who received the stock was about 1,400.

TRUCK GARDENERS TO MEET.

The annual meeting of the Cook County Truck Gardeners and Farmers' association will be held Saturday afternoon in the Seaside hall at Milwaukee avenue and Gale street. William O. Jones, president of the Illinois Highway Improvement association, will address the meeting.

ECONOMY AX OF CONGRESS CUTS OFF 10,683 JOBS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 6.—[Special.]—The most sweeping move for economy taken by congress is evidenced in the action of the appropriations committee of the house, which today reported the legislative, executive, and judicial appropriation bill and reduced the federal employees in the District of Columbia by 10,683, effecting a proposed yearly saving of more than $30,000,000.

The bill does not provide for salaries for the next fiscal year for 12,133 federal employees here, but provides for 1,500 additional employees for the internal revenue bureau, so that the net reduction amounts to 10,683.

In addition to effecting savings by elimination of this army of war workers, the committee recommends that the bonuses of $540 a year, in the next fiscal year, shall not apply to workers at the Washington navy yard, whose wages are determined by wage scale adjustments from time to time.

Republican leaders say that the total reduction in employees in the district will reach fully 20,000 before the middle of the next fiscal year. They are unwilling to make further cuts in the salary roll until the special committee recently appointed to consider the elimination of unnecessary government bureaus reports.

This report is expected to be presented to congress early in June, shortly after which time further reductions will be made in accordance with the expected recommendations.

The bill carries appropriations amounting to $112,708,748.75 for the fiscal year 1922, which is a reduction of $5,751,481.25 from the amount carried last year.

$5,064,000,000 COST OF RUNNING U. S. THE PAST YEAR

Washington, D. C., Jan. 6.—The cost of running the United States government last year amounted to approximately $5,064,000,000, as against about $11,728,000,000 in 1919. The total expenditures outside of payments on the public debt were revealed today in accounts obtained from the daily treasury statements.

Treasury officials said tonight that while ordinary disbursements had not yet come down to the $4,000,000,000 mark set by Secretary Houston in his estimate of the revenues needed for future fiscal years, expenditures would continue to fall.

Ordinary receipts for 1920 amounted to $6,451,000,000 in round numbers, as against $6,772,000,000 for the previous year. Collecting of income and profits taxes totaled $2,570,000,000, compared with $4,327,000,000 in 1919.

In the Wake of the News

EARLIER CHICAGO.

In earlier years, bridges over the Chicago river were opened much more frequently than now to allow the passage of vessels, many with tall masts, which caused no end of confusion, delays, inconvenience and profanity.

So some of our progressive citizens conceived the idea that tunnels would be the proper thing. Accordingly early in 1897, the first of these, the Washington street tunnel, was well under way and completed the following year.

The day the tunnel was opened was an eventful one in Chicago and everybody who could possibly do so went to inspect this improvement. C. E. J.

Dangerous Precedent.

Those Wilmette married men who survive their wives with their culinary skill in preparing, unaided, a church dinner for 300 guests, might well recall the story of the farmer's son.

Little Elias, as we recall, was deemed too small by his mother to do the family milking. One morning Old Si said to the boy, "If you think you're big enough to milk all those cows before breakfast, I'll give you 50 cents."

The lure acted as magic and the task was accomplished promptly and Hamburg, Germany. Dear Wake: I received a gold dollar (1862) in exchange today and it occurred to me to ask if you remember Stein's Dollar Store on State street and the gold and white delivery wagon used. Also Sweitzer and Beer's toy store on State where Stevens' store is now located. R. W. H. of Chicago.

Another View.

(By J. S. McC. age 16 years.)

I have read somewhere that the men of today think of others before themselves. But when I see men railing against prohibition, I am inclined to believe that whoever said that wore rose-colored spectacles.

You selfish grownups think only of the hardship (?) imposed upon you. You do not think of the generations to follow. What father is proud to see his son, or his daughter, come in from some party—drunk? And what of the mothers who must also see if the prohibition law is not enforced?

I do not expect this to appear in 'The Wake' as the conductor seems to have the same egotism. But if he will read this carefully he may see there is no logical answer.

Johnny Wilson, middleweight champ, whose aversion to appearing in public in defense of his title had led many critics to suspect he was a shrinking violet, has now expressed a desire to fight Mike O'Dowd a return match. That makes it unanimous.

Some Mother.

Dear Wake: Tell J. P. H. who wonders if we remember when mother brought in real buckwheats with crisp brown edges, that she STILL DOES.

C. C. K.

This Wake is conducted by Harvey T. Woodruff.

Help! Help!

What Does He Know?

Dear Wake: See where TRIBUNE says a girl's life was saved when her corpse stayed deflected a bullet. This ought to prove once more to the flappers that it is safer to be old fashioned.

SPAIN FIRST TO CHALLENGE U. S. FOR DAVIS CUP

New York, Jan. 6.—Spain is the first nation to file a 1921 challenge for the Davis cup, emblematic of the world's tennis championship.

Notification to this effect was received by the United States Lawn Tennis association tonight in the form of a cable announcing that a formal challenge had been mailed by the Spanish Lawn Tennis association.

At the headquarters of the American association it was said that this challenge was the first of from five to eight expected during the next six weeks. Great Britain, Japan, France, Australia, Canada, Belgium, and South Africa are among the other nations expected to file challenges before March 15.

U. S. Men Win New Zealand Tennis Title Tournament

AUCKLAND, New Zealand, Jan. 6.—Americans won the New Zealand tennis championships in both singles and doubles today. William Tilden of Philadelphia defeated Capt. Watson McWhann, also an American, in the singles. Tilden and William M. Johnston of San Francisco defeated Norman E. Brooks and Gerald P. Patterson, the Australian team.

The singles ran to five sets and the doubles to four.

The American team, with the exception of Johnston, will play in Australia, returning to the United States by way of the Orient.

Trap Men Here Today to Award Grand American

Whether Chicago will be awarded the Grand American handicap of 1921, blue ribbon event of the shooting world, will be determined today at 3 o'clock at the executive committee of the American Trapshooting association at the Morrison hotel.

The South Shore Country club of Chicago and organizations in Cleveland and Indianapolis have placed bids with the committee, but all indications point to a Chicago award, because of the large number of amateur crack shots living in the middle and far west.

The session will open at 10 o'clock, and it may take two days to complete all business necessary for the conduct of all 1921 tournaments coming under the jurisdiction of the association.

Strossner Tops Players in Bankers' Bowling League

Strossner of the Corn Exchange team was high man in the weekly meeting of the Bankers' Bowling league last night, knocking the pins for 841 for three games. Strossner's high game was 253. In the team matches Fort Dearborn won three from Illinois Trust, Corn Exchange three from Union Trust, State Bank three from Northern Trust, Continental and Commercial three from Greengbaum and Sons, and Federal Reserve two from First National.

RICHARDS DENOUNCES BUCKEYE MENTOR FOR SPURNING WISCONSIN

Madison, Wis., Jan. 6.—The break in Big Ten football relations between Wisconsin and Ohio State universities became more acute today with a statement from Coach John R. Richards of Wisconsin intimating that he would resign if Ohio State is ever again put on the Wisconsin football schedule.

Richards' statement expresses his "personal disappointment" over failure to arrange a game with Ohio State for Wisconsin Coach.

1921, declaring "other Wisconsin men agree with me that we did not get fair dealing."

Others Welcome Badger Games.

"Other Big Ten universities rearranged their schedules to secure games with Wisconsin," Richards' statement says, "in striking contrast to Wilco's (Ohio State coach) consideration for Wisconsin, his alma mater."

Thinly veiled charges of unportsmanlike tactics at the Wisconsin-Ohio State game last fall constitute the main reason for Richards' declaration that "no team I coach will ever play Ohio State."

NO REPLY.

Columbus, O., Jan. 6.—Shown the statement of Coach Richards of the Wisconsin university football team that he would resign if Ohio State were again played on a Wisconsin athletic schedule, Athletic Director L. W. St. John tonight declined to issue a statement in answer.

"Such an outburst is not worthy of comment," he declared.

New York Boxing Board Grants Mitchell License

New York, Jan. 6.—Ritchie Mitchell of Milwaukee, who is matched to fight Benny Leonard, lightweight champion, in Madison Square Garden on Jan. 14, received a license today from the New York state boxing commission.

FAT DAYS GROW LEAN

Woods and Waters

BIRD NOTES.

IF it were not for hawks and owls, the gnawing animals such as mice, rats, gophers, etc., would literally overrun the earth. None of the means devised by man is able to cope with them and wherever warfare is waged against hawks and owls by farmers and sportsmen there soon follows an expensive increase in destructive vermin.

There are many instances where bounties have been withdrawn at the request of the same men who did the most clamoring for them. Great Britain has had some and experiences in this line in districts where there are large game preserves. Here the game keepers have systematically killed off the hawks and owls and nearly always the surrounding community has been visited by countless hordes of voles, or meadow mice—"vois plaques," they call such devastations.

In spite of all prejudices against them, hawks and owls are probably the most beneficial of all birds from the farmer's viewpoint. Statistics are apt to be tiresome, so we will not reprint here the results of the Biological survey's examinations of hawk and owl stomachs.

They were overwhelmingly in favor of most of the hawks and practically all of the owls.

Two hundred grasshoppers, for instance, is a fair day's feed for a hawk. Fifty grasshoppers and thirteen cutworms have been found in a screech owl's stomach, and a snowy owl will eat as many as seventeen mice in a day's hunt—the snowy and hawk owls are day hunters. One pair of owls will kill more mice than a dozen cats and a hundred traps.

HOCKEY LEAGUE TO START SENIOR SERIES TOMORROW

At a meeting of the Chicago Hockey association held Wednesday at the Illinois Athletic club it was decided to open the senior series next Saturday afternoon with the following games:

Illinois Athletic club at Hinsdale, Hoyt Leach, referee.

Canadian club at Rogers Park Skating club, J. P. Power, referee.

On Sunday afternoon the following game was scheduled:

Edgewater Beach hotel at Chicago Beach hotel, S. E. McPhee, referee.

The balance of the schedule was turned back to the schedule committee for revision.

It was decided to start all afternoon games at 2 p. m. and all evening games at 7:30 p. m. sharp.

SIMMONS QUILTS COLLEGE AFTER 'RINGER' CHARGE

Roy Simmons, freshman captain of the University of Chicago football team, has left college following the recent disclosure of his participation with Hyde Park High school as a ringer against Lansing, Mich.

Athletic Director Stagg said that the matter was not one for him to settle, for the Thanksgiving game in which Simmons played had no connection with university athletics, and that if Simmons was to be disciplined it would be by the faculty for conduct unbecoming a student of the university.

Simmons finished the fall quarter, but has not attended classes since the opening of the winter quarter. It is known that Dean David Allen Robertson has recommended that Simmons be expelled.

Two world's records were broken and swimmers representing the Illinois A. C. went into the lead for honors in the first batch of Central A. A. U. indoor swimming championships held in the Tricolor club pool last night.

The first mark to go by in the boards was in the 100 yard medley race, which went to Norman Ross, the great all around swimmer of the I. A. C. and individual star of the Olympic games in swimming events, who covered the distance in 1:06. The former record was 1:06.15, made by Harry Heber of the junior Michigan avenue club in 1916.

In the 150 yard open relay the Illinois A. C. quartet defeated the C. A. A. first team by four feet and established a new world's record of 1:16.4.5. The former mark was 1:17, made by a Tricolor club team in 1914.

Miss Sybil Bauer carried off the honors in the women's open events by taking first place in two contests.

Novelty events and exhibition of water polo between two picked teams of the I. A. C. completed the program.
